Marina to have no restrooms, sewerage

BY ED LEPOMA

Consulting engineers have recommended building the long-delayed Hancock County Marina at Bayou Caddy without initially running sewerage and water lines or installing public bathrooms.

Supervisors are weighing those options, and are likely to come to a decision at their Dec. 1 meeting. Engineers have also recommended cutting back on paving at the site off Lake-shore Road, and delaying running electricity to most of the 90 boat slips.

The idea of building a public facility without running water, bathrooms or sewerage appalls Dr. Robert Travnick, the Health Department's Southeast Regional Director. Travnick has waged a long campaign to stop the raw sewage from being dumped into the area lakes, bays and ditches from houses and trailers that shouldn't have been allowed in low-lying areas south of the Interstate.

When apprised of the situation, he reacted strongly.

"I find that impossible to believe. That couldn't be right. No one would do that," said Travnick.

"First, run the sewerage, then the marina will come."

Travnick said the health department doesn't have the authority to stop the project, but he felt the state Department of Environmental Quality would have something to say.

District 3 Supervisor Lisa Coward was also surprised.

Boudin attends El Nino briefing

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

Hancock County, Bay-Waveland Civil Defense Director Bobby Boudin attended a National Weather Service briefing in Jackson Wednesday in regards to El Nino '97.

The reason for the briefing was to explain what El Nino was to CD directors from across the state, Boudin said.

Civil defense directors were asked to meet with various newspaper representatives and relay the message to the general public.

"A lot of people are misinformed about what an El Nino is really all about," Boudin said.

An El Nino is a mass of warm water that shifts from east to west and west to east. Whatever part of the world it is in, this warm water heats up the atmosphere and could cause additional rainfall which could possibly get very heavy, Boudin reported.

The CD director continued, "We have had 16 El Ninos in the last 25 years. If you live in a flood-prone area, it is possible

Waveland Fire Dept. upgrades rating

BY BETSY GAGNET

Waveland fire protection services have received an improved fire insurance classification rating, going from a sixth class to a fifth class rating.

Only 23 of the 890 fire services statewide (including volunteer, municipal and private) have a class five rating, according to Waveland Fire Chief David Garcia.

Garcia explained that the rating is based on four different areas which are graded every four years. The four areas include water supply, fire department, fire communication and fire control.

FWA made some changes and Waveland was able to upgrade its rating. Garcia said the upgrade was a result of the changes made to the fire department.

that's why we're so proud of it."

The fire station on Gulfside Street is equipped with several advanced computer systems which contributed to the rating, Garcia said.

In addition to an enhanced 911 system, there is a weather satellite system, a Hurricane system, and a system which monitors the city's walls.

The fire department serves as the local emergency center for the city, said Garcia. The satellite system, when combined with a recently purchased generator means the department will not be dependent on local weather service and will not have to go online in an emergency situation.

Garcia explained that the Hurricane program would be determining when he could get

Leaky roof angers Coward

How many Hancock County supervisors does it take to fix a leaking roof?

More than a year and a half after complaints first surfaced about roof leaks at the Human Resources Center on Longfellow Road, supervisors are still pondering what to do or who to sue.

In the interim, they've gotten input from County Administrator Tim Kellar, County

Attorney Gerald Gex, a local architect, and at least two area firms who have suggested how to fix the problem.

But, with this week's heavy rains, Dewey Bohinger, who runs the county's building maintenance and road crews, told the Board, "The roof is still leaking real bad."

The revelation seemed to have struck a nerve with District 3 Supervisor Lisa Coward, who mentioned that, "I've brought this up at almost every meeting and nothing has been done."

"We're going to lose the whole freaking building because nobody can decide who screwed up," Coward warned.

And, therein lies the problem.

The five supervisors had been in office just shy of five months when the director of the Human Resources Office, the Health Department and

Free art workshop

Ocean Springs artist Mary Hardy will lead two free art workshops in "monoprinting" Saturday, Nov. 22, sponsored by the Walter Anderson Museum of Art and International Paper Company at the museum, 510 Washington Avenue, Ocean Springs.

The children's workshop, for ages 6 and above, will be from 10 a.m.-noon, and the adult session will run from 1-3 p.m. Because of limited space, advance registration is required. Call 872-3164 for information or to reserve space.

Participants will work on plexiglass with caran d'ache (wax crayons) to produce an image which can then be printed on paper.

Hardy is a high school art teacher and earned a master's degree in art education at the University of South Alabama. She has done graduate work through the University of Tennessee-Arrowmont.

Citizens claim health officials overzealous in code enforcement

BY ED LEPOMA

Is the Health Department being overzealous in enforcing Hancock County's new sewerage ordinance?

That might be according to who you talk to.

At a recent supervisor's meeting, two county officials complained that they're getting reports of residents who think they have been treated unjustly.

County Attorney Gerald Gex said he had a complaint from one woman "who bought a mansion" in Shoreline Park. "She already had electricity, but she wanted to put in central heat and air, and when she went to the Health Department to get a permit, she was refused," Gex said.

District 1 Supervisor Jeep Ladner said he had a complaint from one person who had electricity and an existing trailer on a lot in Bayside Park, but when he wanted to pull in a larger trailer, he was told it wasn't allowed.

Pansy Maddox, environmental supervisor with the state Health Department, who is coordinating enforcement of the new ordinance with county health officials, asks those complaining to be "more site specific."

Neither Gex nor Ladner gave specific names or addresses of those complaining.

Under the county-wide sewerage ordinance passed by supervisors last month, local power and utility companies are being asked not to hook up electricity at new home construction or at new mobile home sites until the health department has made an inspection. Inspectors determine whether the site can handle a septic tank or if there is existing sewerage to the new home site.

And, the Health Department promised to make inspections within five days, so as not to slow down new construction or settlement in the county.

"I looked into both matters," said Maddox. "From what I can tell, the person who had the smaller trailer did have electricity, but he had no septic tank and was dumping the raw sewage into the ditch."

"We're not going to let him pull in a bigger trailer to do the same thing. He shouldn't have been there in the first place."

Maddox said it was hard to track down the complaint from the Shoreline Park homeowner.

"If it was an existing structure, and had electricity, they didn't have to come to the Health Department for any kind of permit," said Maddox. "All they had to do was hire an electrician to upgrade the electrical box."

Maddox said the department is keeping up with its promise to inspect sites within five days, and the ordinance is working with cooperation between the local Health Department and the county's building officials and zoning enforcement officer.

Supervisors, however, instructed Gex to give some "clarification" to the Health Department to deny power to only residences or mobile home site that have not had power for one year.

Gex is still working on the clarification.

Warning issued

Motorists are warned to proceed at their own risk maneuvering down Texas Flat Road.

Drainage and culverts are being installed on the roadway which leads from Hwy. 603 into McLeod Water Park, and Park Ranger Roland Lee said several vehicles have become stalled in the muddy street or have slid into ditches.

County Attorney Gerald Gex said residents can't expect county vehicles to tow them out of the street or ditches.

In fact, it's illegal to do so, Gex said.

The road will be widened and paved once grading and utilities are installed, but the work could take six months to a year to complete. TCB Construction Co., of Poplarville began the $658,579 project last August.

Previously, supervisors instructed Road Supt. Dewey Boebinger to monitor and try to limit large logging trucks coming out onto Texas Flat Road while roadwork is underway.

Virus or Flu?

Do You Know the Facts About RSV?

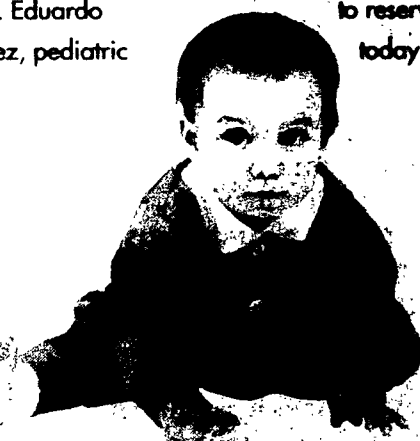

It's highly contagious, has symptoms that resemble flu, asthma or sleep apnea, and if it goes unchecked, a child can end up in the emergency room or intensive care. It's Respiratory Syncytial Virus, otherwise known as RSV. Infants who were born prematurely or have a history of heart or lung problems are most at risk, but older, healthier children—especially those in daycare centers—can also contract RSV.

The virus can be life-threatening so it's important for parents and daycare providers to be informed; the most obvious symptoms are an extended cough, a cold or struggling for breath. In order for parents and daycare providers to learn more, North Shore Regional Medical Center is presenting an RSV Seminar.

Join Dr. Eduardo Hernandez, pediatric pulmonologist, for an informative and very important look at RSV—its warning signs, prevention and treatment. A question/answer session will follow. The seminar will be held Thursday, November 20, at 7 p.m., in NSRMC's Clinic 2, Room 303.

Attendance is free but seating is limited. Call 646-5014 to reserve your place today.

Daycare providers earn Continuing Education credits when they attend.

Signs up

New street signs (like the ones above) are popping up all over Waveland and the cost to the city is the cost of putting them up. The signs are part of a state grant program under which the state pays 100 percent for engineering fees and the signs and the city puts the signs up. The grant was applied for several years ago, but only recently came through, according to Public Works Director Steve Landry. Landry said the city is in phase two of the project which will cover half of the north end of the city with the other half to be completed by phase three. The southern end of the city was completed under phase one.

Life in a firehouse

BY BETSY GAGNET

What's it like to work 24-hour shifts, living with your co-workers and waiting to be called out in an emergency? Just ask a firefighter.

At the Waveland Fire Department, 12 full-time firefighters spend many a day and night together, an estimated one-third of their time, according to Waveland Assistant Fire Chief Steve Garber.

"When they're here, it's their home away from home," he said.

While at the fire station, the firefighters do their own cooking, bringing food from home. They also do cleaning and laundry.

"It's like a family," explained Fire Chief David Garcia, with everyone pitching in.

"If they don't know how to clean, they learn," laughed Captain Mike Smith. "If they don't know how to cook, they learn."

The young firefighters on hand one recent morning all said they love what they do. Even the firefighters who have been doing the job for several years said they still enjoy it. Garber commented he had planned to stay on the job a year or two, and "that was 15 years ago."

Likewise, firefighter Joe Bourgeois said he had been with the Waveland department for six and one-half years, after beginning in 1979 as a volunteer with the Clermont Harbor department.

Firefighter Bryce Gex said he has been on the job one year and loves it. He explained that while the schedule demands he be away from his family for 24-hour intervals, he also gets several days in a row at home without working at all.

Like any roommates, all that time together sometimes creates tensions which may result in what firefighter Shawn Self laughingly calls "intense negotiations." However, everyone agreed that the "negotiations" usually blow over in a matter of minutes.

There wasn't a total agreement on who was the best cook, (although Garcia's name was mentioned) but apparently Joe Bourgeois cooks up some mean chicken and Rice-a-Roni. It's all in a day's work.

Culinary Arts luncheon

Things will be cooking at the University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast Tuesday, Nov. 25, at the first Culinary Arts Academy luncheon planned this academic year.

Students and faculty of CAA will do the cooking for the lunch, which begins at noon at the Gulf Park Conference Center cafeteria located on the Gulf Park campus in Long Beach.

Cost per person is $5, and reservations must be made at least 24 hours in advance.

The Culinary Arts Academy is a USMGC program designed to prepare students for careers in the hospitality industry.

Road ribbon cutting set at Waveland school

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

A ribbon cutting will be held Monday, 1:30 p.m., for the new road at Waveland Elementary School.

The new road is to help alleviate the traffic at Waveland Elementary. It has been planned by the Bay-Waveland School District to make traffic flow for student pickup and drop off.

With the Kindergarten addition in 1995, the option of a roadway through the Kindergarten playground was available.

"This new road will relieve traffic congestion between cars and busses," school official Barbara Cropp said.

Waveland officials, school administration, teachers, and parents are all invited to the ribbon cutting.

A reception will follow for officials, invited guests and parents.

"CUEVAS" QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Thursday I received a telephone call from a long-time county friend who told me a story. I thought you would like to hear about it.

This person's friend, an 88-year-old Bay St. Louis resident telephoned her to say that she had received a strange call from a young lady.

This young lady went on to tell her how much credit card fraud was going on and that she had to be careful.

After that she told the elderly lady, "If you would give me your credit card number, we could protect you and will bill you later for $29."

The elderly lady was wise in telling the person she could not reach her credit card at the time and never gave out her number, which is the thing all financial institutions and law enforcement agencies emphasize.

The person who called me, asked that I remind everyone that this is the holiday season, and scam artists are especially active at this time.

It is advised to never give anyone who calls you, whom you do not know, your credit card number.

A Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Business After Hours is scheduled for Thurs., Nov. 20, 5 to 7 p.m., at Hancock Medical Center's Business & Education Center.

Business After Hours is sponsored by Hancock Medical Center and will be the welcoming new physician Dr. Richard F. Bennett, family medicine, who has joined the practice of Dr. Bertin C. Chevis.

The event is open to chamber members and guests. This will be a good time to come and meet Dr. Bennett and welcome him to our community.

Hancock County is fast becoming known throughout the state for its citizens being leaders in volunteer programs.

There are so many volunteer groups, those who give time and talents for the good of the county.

A prime example are the Hancock Medical Center's Auxiliary volunteers.

These ladies, and a few men, were recently recognized with a luncheon by HMC, and it was revealed that more than 11,000 hours of volunteer time were donated to the hospital during the last year.

One does not need to be a certified accountant to total in dollars and cents how much their services have meant for our hospital. It is estimated their services have saved HMC some $138,000 in salaries and benefits for the past year.

Just think, over the years, Theresa Bourgeois, director of volunteer services for HMC, was recognized for her 6,000 hours of service with a pin, while Edna Klempeter and Phil Lagasse had received 3,000-hour pins.

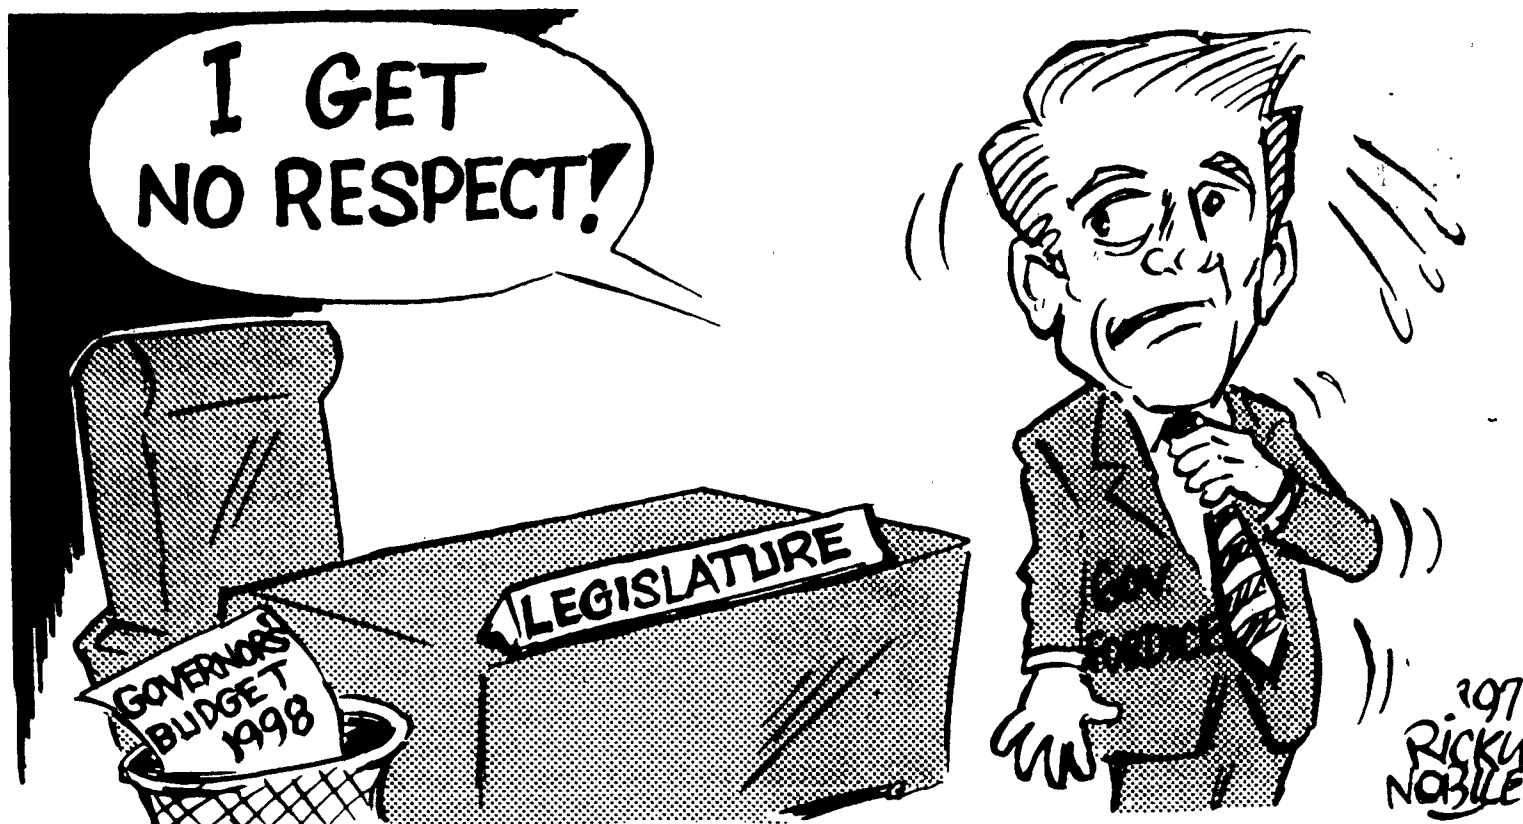

Shirley Clemons and Dottie Corales, 2,500 hours; Billie Tudor and Beverly Mahe, 2,000 hours; Bobbie Goodell and Beverly Mahe, 1,750 hours; Randolph Bourgeois, 1,500 hours; Gertrude Helwig and Bea Lorenzen, 1,250 hours; and Beulah Benigno, Clarice Gustin and Billy Jean Niver, 1,000 volunteer hours. Others received pins for 50 to 700 hours.

And in addition to all the volunteer hours, the HMC Auxiliary has pledged $10,000 to the HMC Foundation, of which $3,500 has already been presented.

These monies are raised from the auxiliary's operation of the HMC gift shop and vending machines.

Hats off to all of the Hancock Medical Center Volunteers and all other volunteers throughout Hancock County.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Bay Patrolman's care for police car noticed

Dear Editor:

In this day and time we hear many negative comments regarding members of law enforcement organizations. A few weeks ago I witnessed something that I feel compelled to bring to your attention. We have police officers in Bay St. Louis we can be proud of.

While getting gasoline at a service station on Hwy. 90 in Bay St. Louis, a young police officer pulled up to a pump adjacent to where I was filling my vehicle. When he finished pumping his gasoline, he reached inside his vehicle and removed a piece of cloth with which he proceeded to wipe the exterior of his patrol car.

As I watched, he cleaned the windows and wiped down all the metal surfaces of the car. I noticed that this particular police car was in extremely good condition and was very clean. It was very gratifying to see this young police officer showing such pride in his work, his vehicle, and towards the City of Bay St. Louis, which he represented.

Regretfully, I did not take the time at that moment to share my thoughts and appreciation for his pride with him, but I do feel a sense of need to share this action with you. We may never know who this young police officer was, but I felt very gratified in seeing his pride and concern towards his community and its property.

With kindest personal regards,
I remain,
Yours truly
Edward F. Livingston

Hebert confirmed for energy post

Pascagoula native Curt Hebert Jr. has been confirmed by the U.S. Senate for the post on the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission (FERC), U.S. Sen. Trent Lott announced.

Hebert, who currently serves as Public Service Commissioner for Mississippi's Southern District, will be one of five commissioners responsible for establishing energy policy in the United States. Lott recommended Hebert to the President, and President Clinton in turn nominated Hebert for the FERC position.

Curt has served the State of Mississippi as a member of the Public Service Commission for several years. During that time, he has demonstrated the ability to balance the diverse utility interests in our state," Lott said. "He has the skills necessary to address the needs of each of these entities, while keeping the best interest of the consumer in mind. Curt will bring a wealth of knowledge to FERC and help smoothly integrate coming changes in the utility industry."

Among FERC's responsibilities are setting charges for the transportation, sale and resale of natural gas, and the wholesale of electricity. FERC is an independent commission within the U.S. Department of Energy.

Hebert will be filling out the final 19 months of an uncompleted term before he is nominated for a full five-year term with FERC. He will be sworn in Nov. 17 in the Old Supreme Court Chamber of the New Capitol in Jackson.

Cochran cosponsors bill to reform hunting law

Senator Thad Cochran is cosponsoring legislation which will define more clearly prohibitions against hunting over baited areas.

Under current law, if a person hunts over a baited area that person is presumed guilty whether or not they knew the site was baited.

The Migratory Bird Treaty Reform Act, which was introduced Nov. 13 in the U.S. Senate by Senator John Breaux, (D-LA) and U.S. Senator Thad Cochran (R-MS), would establish a new standard enabling hunters to prove their innocence. The bill repeals the strict liability rule presently enforced by federal courts.

The legislation gives hunters an opportunity to present evidence that they were not aware bait was present. The court would determine guilt or innocence from the evidence. If the facts show that the hunter knew or should have known that the field was baited, penalties could be imposed.

"This is a change in the law that is justified and overdue in my opinion. There are situations that make it impossible for innocent hunters to know if a field is baited or not. The reforms in this legislation will help prevent innocent hunters from being punished unfairly," Cochran said.

The bill also defines activities that constitute baiting. Under the bill the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service would consult with state and federal agencies and publish regulations regarding acceptable agricultural practices for different regions of the country.

This guidance is designed to remove the uncertainty that currently exists among landowners, farmers, wildlife manager, law enforcement officials and hunters about the illegality of certain agricultural practices.

IN CONGRESS

By Representative Gene Taylor

Taylor announces $3.9 billion in FY 98 Defense authorization

As a member of the House National Security Committee, Congressman Gene Taylor announced that the House has approved a $268.2 billion Defense Authorization Bill for Fiscal Year 1998, which includes $3.9 billion for local projects.

Taylor said the Conference Report contained key language and projects particularly important to Jackson County, including:

- $4.9 million for the extension of the West Quaywall at the Homeport Pascagoula
- $3.7 billion for 4 DDG-51 Arleigh Burke Class Destroyers
- three DDG-51's are fully funded and one is partially funded. Ingalls is one of two shipyards in the nation that build the DDG-51's
- $53.6 million for GC-47 Aegis Cruiser conversion to be completed at Ingalls Shipbuilding.

Additionally, Taylor worked on funding for defense projects vital to South Mississippi and worked to add key language in the House bill, including:

- Military Construction
 - $9.5 million for the Air National Guard's Troop Camp Quarters/Dining Hall at the Guard's Combat Readiness Training Center (CRTC)
 - $5 million for replacement of the 40 multi-family housing units at Keesler
 - $30.9 million for Keesler Student Dormitory upgrades
 - $9.9 million for Special Boat Unit-22, the U.S. Navy Seal Unit located at Stennis Space Center
- Procurement
 - $16 million for TAGS-65.

This is advanced procurement/partial funding; total cost of TAGS-65 is $75 million. TAGS-65 are built at Halter Marine.

- $17.3 million for LCAC SLEP (Landing Craft Air Cushioned, Service Life Extension Program). LCAC's are built by Textron in Louisiana. The rubber skirts that encircle the bottom are manufactured in Picayune. Taylor worked with the Louisiana delegation to authorize the projects, since a sizable amount of this funding will be spent on replacement skirts under the SLEP program.
- Research & Development

- $10 million for a composite helicopter hangar for future classes of Navy surface combatant ships. The composite work is performed at Seaman Plastics of Gulfport, along with Ingalls Shipbuilding.

- $35 million for Arsenal Ship/Fire Support Demonstrator. Ingalls is one of three shipbuilding teams competing to build this demonstrator ship.

The final bill also included key language added by Taylor to increase funding for the National Guard Youth Challenge Program and to prohibit state-owned foreign ~~same~~ from acquiring closed U.S. bases.

National Guard Youth Challenge

Taylor offered an amendment to ensure the National Guard Youth Challenge Program for at-risk youths gets $50 million a year in federal funding. The 22-week program, located at Camp Shelby in Hattiesburg is designed for unemployed 16-18-year-old high school dropouts.

"The Youth Challenge Program has an outstanding success rate of 99 percent," said Taylor. "These are young people who, in all probability would have ended up in jail. Instead, 99 percent of these young people join the active duty military, join the National Guard or continue their education. The Challenge program is the most successful of its kind thanks to the hard work of our Mississippi National Guard, Major Gen. James Garner, Colonel William Crowson and former Congressman Sonny Montgomery."

Foreign Shipping Companies at U.S. Bases

Taylor successfully amended legislation to prohibit state-owned foreign firms from acquiring closed U.S. bases. The Taylor-Hunter-Cunningham-Solomon Measure was originally introduced to stop the China Ocean Shipping Company (Cosco) takeover of Long Beach Naval Station.

The measure, introduced by Rep. Duncan Hunter (R-CA) was modified by Rep. Taylor during committee debate to preclude all closed military facilities from being conveyed to any state-owned foreign shipping company.

REFLECTIONS ON LIFE

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Many millennia ago, bumpy El Nino began its rampaging course through the mid-Pacific south of the equator. It is so powerful and capricious that it determines the number of storms and whether they will hit Georgia or west Mexico.

Of fairy-tale proportions and behavior, El Nino has become an object of wonder, fear and endless speculation. Some of the predictions associated with El Nino are wild and improbable, readily triggering the worst fears of our populace.

However, some predictions are real, based on the surplus energy stored in the Pacific waters by the relentless heat of the equatorial sun. To some degree or other, that excessive heat finds its way into every nook and cranny of the world.

Seizing upon the explosive news around El Nino, even the U.S. President and his pawns have politicized this awesome phenomenon of nature, boosting their political stock by a special study panel on global warming in part from El Nino.

So El Nino has come to be not just a powerful weather maker, but a legend in its own right. Winds and ocean currents around the globe feel the might of its influence. Too much rain in some areas is contrasted by drought in others.

For all that, El Nino is but another of the many traces of Jesus, having been named for "The Child," or "El Nino" in Spanish; since it generally occurs very near the celebration of the birthday of the great Child on December 25.

Not unlike love, traces of Jesus are found everywhere, even in places where people reject him out of hand. Long before El Nino came to be, Jesus the true El Nino, had split the calendar forever by being born into the world.

B.C. and A.D. are the bookends of the most awesome Legend ever to hit the world, dragging grudging obeisance out of all peoples of all places, cultures, philosophies and climes.

Even the slothful couch potato, who rarely darkens the threshold of a church, springs from his recliner on Sunday or Monday nights, about the fire and brimstone at his TV set: "Jesus Christ! The ball went right through his hands!"

Strongly reminiscent of what many Christians do before the crucifix or tabernacle, the play-by-play man says of the quarterback as the clock winds down: "I think he is going to genuflect here. Yes, the quarterback will take a knee!"

Traces of Jesus and the angelic salutation before his conception constantly reappear in the quarterback's "Hail Mary" in moments of desperation when all is about to be lost. Both teams raise their hands high, waving furiously in agreement.

Sometimes, when one or the other team fills the air with passes, the play-by-play or color man cannot resist continuing the insightful Gospel according to the NFL: "Those who live by the pass will also die by the pass."

Worth repeating there is the hitter's sacrifice off red in baseball, acknowledging the huge benefits of one man's demise for the well-being of the whole team. A true Messianic trait.

Traces of Jesus are found in every profession, even in the tawdriest where they write about "True Confession."

Politicians often manage to do the wrong things, but they quote the right person: "A house divided against itself cannot stand," and "God loves a cheerful giver."

Just like love, Jesus, your spell is everywhere.

Library celebrates Children's Book Week

"Thrills and Chills at the Library" is the theme of National Children's Book Week Nov. 17-23, according to David Woodburn, public service coordinator for the Hancock County Library System.

To honor this national observance, the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library will release the Dolley Madison McKinney Children's Post Checkout Collection. The collection consists of a variety of children's posters, educational and recreational, that can be checked out and hung in the child's room for 28 days.

The posters, honoring long-time library supporter Dolley Madison McKinney, are encased in plastic and have a hanger already on them, so they are ready to just hang on the wall. Parents are urged to remember that these special items cannot be returned to bookdrop, but must be brought inside the library for return.

Children who have the opportunity to win a National Children's Book Week T-shirt during the week. Each time a child presents a library card to check out books or other items, he/she will be given a registration form to complete. Names will be drawn and announced Monday, Nov. 24, and the winner at each branch will receive a children's Book Week T-shirt.

"Fall Fun" will be the theme at the Bay St. Louis Library Wednesday, Nov. 19 at 10:30 a.m. in observance of Children's Book Week. The program will be the library's regular children's story hour and will be hosted by Susan Daigre.

Red Leaf, Yellow Leaf and other fall leaf books will be read during the program. Children will also be making fall leaves.

"Why We Have Thanksgiving" will be the theme of the children's story hour at the Kiln Library Thursday, Nov. 20 at 10:30 a.m.

When Dad Cuts Down the Chestnut Tree Squirrel's home is destroyed and he has to find a new place to live.

Over the River and Through the Woods are books to be read. Children will make and color an Indian puppet and receive a turkey color sheet.

National Children's Book Week has been celebrated since 1919. The idea for the week began with Franklin K. Mathews, librarian for the Boy Scouts of America. He was a strong advocate for quality children's literature.

By 1945, it had become so popular that the Children's Book Council was formed to handle the administration and publicity for Book Week. Annually the week before Thanksgiving, schools and libraries mark this special event.

For information, contact Woodburn at the library at 467-5282.

Messiah soloists announced

Hilda Barnes, director of the Gulf Coast Messiah Chorus, has announced that soloists have been selected for the upcoming performances of George Frederick Handel's oratorio Messiah.

This series of performances will mark the 45th anniversary of the founding of the Messiah Chorus.

Soloists for this year's performance will be:

Soprano: Judith D'Angelo of Pass Christian, Lucille Harrington of Biloxi and Marla

Brannan of Gulfport.

Alto: Betty Shearer of Gulfport and Andi Moore of Biloxi.

Tenor: Stan Loyd of Pascagoula and J. T. Anglin of Ocean Springs.

Bass: Harry Evers of Pass Christian and Clifton D. Taylor of Biloxi.

This will mark the fourth year that Hilda Barnes has been the director of the chorus. Barnes, of Gulfport, is well known throughout the South for her accomplishments in choral music. She served as director of the Biloxi High School Chorus from 1967-91. During her tenure the chorus received many awards for the excellence of their performances.

Performance Schedule

Thursday, Dec. 4, First Baptist Church, Gulfport, 7:30 p.m.

Friday, Dec. 5, First Baptist Church, Pascagoula, 7:30 p.m.

Saturday, Dec. 6, Saenger Theatre, Biloxi, 8:15 p.m.

Sunday, Dec. 7, St. Paul Catholic Church, Pass Christian, 2:30 p.m.

Open house

This year's Holiday Open House at the Old Capitol Shop Sunday, Nov. 16 from 12:30-4:30 p.m., will feature gifts for hunters and fishers. Chose from stag head bookends, fishing lure ornaments, rattlesnake plates, miniature canoes, hand-carved alligator and bear-head canes, and turtle hip pouches with fox-head flaps.

The shop also offers Choctaw baskets, Anderson art, jewelry and pottery by Mississippi craftspeople, and a fine selection of books by Mississippians and about Mississippi.

The Metropolitan Chamber Orchestra will perform at 2 p.m. in the Senate chamber. At 3 p.m., Alan Huffman, author of Ten Point: Deer Camp in the Mississippi Delta, will sign copies of his book, photographs from which are currently exhibited in the Old Capital Museum.

The Old Capital Museum, which is located on State Street at Capitol, is administered by the Mississippi Department of Archives and History.

street to aid residents in a hurricane situation.

Computers also enable the department to prepare plans for evacuations if needed, in coordination with the Hancock County Civil Defense. The plans could be used in the event of natural disasters or in the event of a chemical spill.

Additionally, information about special needs of residents has been entered, such as if they are in wheelchairs, or have a special medical condition.

Each year the information is updated and through the computer Garcia can determine the area affected by a certain situation, and corresponding water supply, manholes, drainage ditches, population, and special needs of residents.

"We advertise each year for people to inform us if they have any mobility problems or will require special assistance in an emergency situation," Garcia said. "They can contact us at the fire department and we will get someone out to them with a special needs questionnaire."

In addition to the computer systems, improvements have been made to the city's water systems, and the fire department has instituted a hydrant and maintenance program. Garcia said he works closely with Waveland's Director of Utilities Steve Landry in improving and maintaining the cities water supplies.

The other area which contributed to the improved rating is training which begins with Waveland's own training ground complete with a 35-foot tower, roof simulator and soon to be completed 5,000-gallon drafting tank. The fire department is working in conjunction with Landry to install a natural gas burn area so public utilities employees and firefighters can train to handle a natural gas and fire emergency, said Garcia.

"One of the biggest reasons we got our five rating is because of our training ground," he said.

New firefighters begin training at the Waveland facility even before attending the state State of Mississippi Fire Training Academy, which they must attend within 12 months of hire. "We've added to the state requirements," Garcia said.

Each day the new recruits begin with daily shift training, which includes running one and one-half miles in under 14 minutes, 35 sit-ups in two minutes or less, dragging a 125 pound dummy 75 feet in two minutes or less, jumping through a six foot window and sitting and reaching eleven inches past a 90 degree angle.

"We prepare (new recruits) for the Academy by making sure they're in shape before they go," explained Garcia. "From that point on, (training) is broken down into monthly training segments. Each month we concentrate on a different area."

In addition to the physical training, the station has a video library of almost 400 training films, and firefighters view daily training programs picked up via satellite. Following the daily training films, firefighters practice the skill taught.

The department also performs an inventory every three days to make sure all equipment is workable and safe.

What it all adds up to is an improved fire service which Garcia is extremely proud of.

"Waveland has a young fire department which can serve for a long time," he said. "We have young, energetic firefighters that are proud to serve the city of Waveland."

Taylor announces COPS grant

The Bay St. Louis Police Department has been awarded a $71,660 COPS Advancing Community Policing grant from the U.S. Department of Justice, announced Congressman Gene Taylor.

Taylor said the funds will be used to further develop a strategic plan to re-organize the operations of the police department. This will mean enhanced community policing and increased safety for both officers and residents.

As a supporter of South Mississippi's law enforcement agencies, Taylor and his staff have worked with the Department of Justice to help several towns and counties beef up their police forces under the program.

"As a former Bay St. Louis City Councilman, I am very much aware of how growing cities like ours measure tens of thousands of dollars for the police department. This grant means that $71,660 will not have to be raised from local taxes," said Taylor.

Annual Doll and Toy Fund

The Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund is accepting names for Christmas assistance through Dec. 1. The Doll and Toy Fund has been sponsored by the Bay St. Louis Fire Department for more than 10 years to help families provide a happy holiday for their children. The fire department will accept applications at the station, 310 Old Spanish Trail during business hours, 8 a.m.-4 p.m. Monday through Friday. No telephone calls can be accepted for this project.

"Devoting time and energies to the Doll and Toy Fund has become a major holiday event for the department. We exhaust every avenue to assist those in the most need of our help, using the generous support of the Hancock County community. We are the clearing house for children's aid at Christmas and are proud to fill this role," said Chief Robert Gavagnie.

A parent or legal guardian, who is a full-time resident of Hancock County, must apply for the child. This guardian must present a valid Mississippi identification. A birth certificate or Social Security card must be presented to verify the child. Applications will be accepted for children through age 13. Children must also reside in Hancock County.

Donations of new toys and cash are also being solicited and accepted by the fund to help defray the expenses of assisting these children. Staff coordinator for the fund is Tammy Garber.

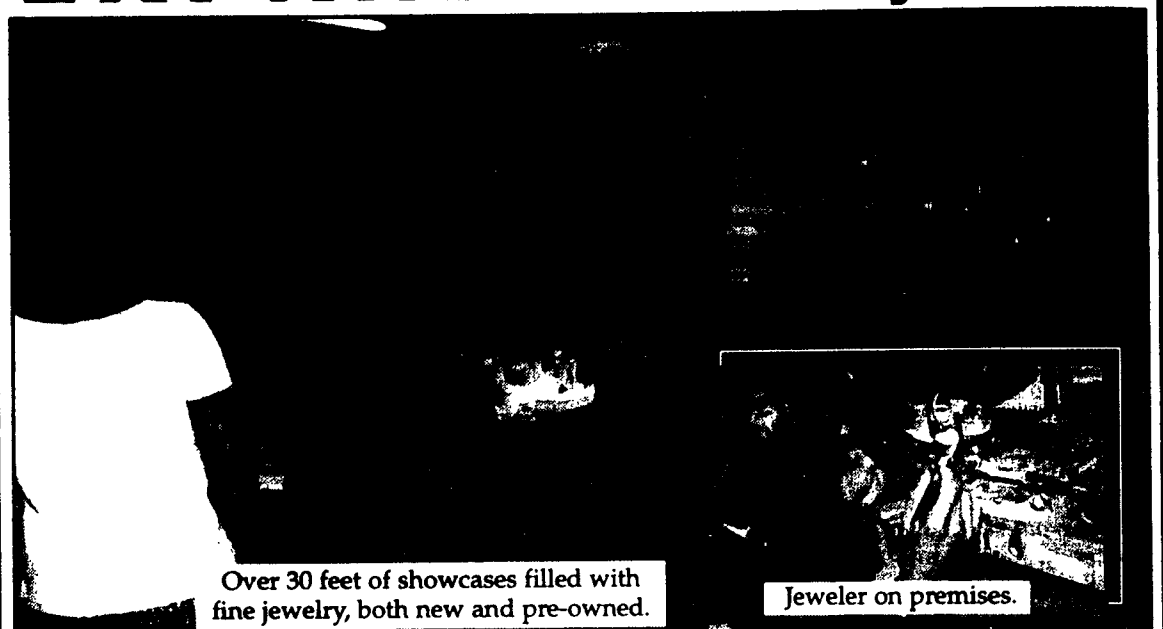

The Hancock County Doll and Toy Fund is an agency of the United Way of South Mississippi.

Taylor to hold town meeting
The public is invited to join Congressman Gene Taylor for a town meeting in Hancock County Wednesday, Nov. 19 at the American Legion Post 58, Hwy. 603 in the Standard community, 6-7:30 p.m.

Taylor, who has held a number of town meetings during the year, said he is looking forward to the gathering.

Along with the thousands of letters and phone calls he receives each year, Taylor said the meetings give him a good sense of what issues are of greatest concern to the folks in South Mississippi.

Marina

never heard of such a thing," said Cowand.

She mentioned that supervisors only recently enacted a countywide sewerage ordinance directing power companies not to hook up electricity to home or trailer sites until the Health Department has approved individual wastewater disposal systems.

A shortage of monies for the first-phase construction is the apparent cause for the recommended cutbacks.

Supervisors first took bids on the project on Aug. 29, but received no bids. They readvertised and opened new bids on Oct. 6, and this time two contractors bid on the project.

Upon recommendations of design consultants Compton Engineering, on Oct. 16, supervisors let a contract to Malouf Construction Co., of Madison, Miss. for the first phase construction. Malouf's apparent low bid was $1.1 million, which was within engineers' estimates for the project, but Johnson told supervisors certain line-item expenditures would have to be reduced.

Last Thursday, Johnson revealed that supervisors actually had only $647,701, mainly in Tidelands monies, to spend on the first phase of the project.

Land acquisition to buy off property surrounding property owners cost $313,000, and another $77,100 has been spent on legal and engineering and design fees.

Johnson said, "There are still questions on the contractor's mind before he will agree (to begin the project). He's very interested in trying to work things out."

Malouf would also have to modify a permit received from the Department of Marine Resources, which would allow him to dump the dredge spoils at a spot other than the one now permitted, Johnson said. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers have already issued the dredging permit, and the state DEQ held a hearing and has approved the marina site.

The marina will be constructed on a 6.8 acre tract at the foot of Pleasure Street. It is bounded by Bayou Caddy on the south, Lakeshore Road on the north, Bordages Street on the west and Ohio Street on the east.

The marina site is near Lambert Lane, where a developer is selling up to 120 waterfront lots that already have water and sewerage hookups.

Johnson said the developer was approached about the marina tying into his utilities (Island Utilities Inc.) "but he wanted about half a million dollars."

In original plans, the first phase was to include 90 boat slips, three public boat launches, about 500 feet of associated piers and docks, and a lighted and paved parking lot. Water and electricity hookups were planned for the length of the lighted piers, along with a Harbor Master's building that would contain public restrooms.

Although Hancock County has requested another $300,000 in Tidelands monies from the state next year to continue construction of the facility, engineers estimate the project may receive funds totaling only $135,000 by next July.

The Hancock County Wastewater District I has applied for grants to install sewerage along Lakeshore Drive, but the application is pending.

Roof

County Extension Services who are housed in the HRC building came to complain about problems that have plagued the building since it was completed in February of 1991. A previous Board of Supervisors used $1.2 million in bond funds to build the brick, one-story facility. The building also houses the Welfare Department and the State Employment office.

The Health Department had the most serious complaints, and a tour of the premises by the Echo Wednesday showed ceiling tiles so soaked they were threatening to fall down. A woman's bathroom remained locked due to water leaking from ceiling to floor. Rain pouring through ceiling tiles threatened to damage computers and would have destroyed medical records if they hadn't been covered or moved.

Shortly after the initial complaints, Board President Phillip Moran and District 4 Supervisor Steve Seymour climbed on the roof themselves to get a first-hand look at the problems.

Supervisors criticized the decision to install a flat roof on the building, and wondered if the general contractor, GM&R of Waveland, could be held responsible. They later dispatched a crew from the county's Building and Maintenance Department to survey the problem and present suggestions on how to resolve it.

The project architect, Michael Reeves, also took a look at the roof, and contended that twice-yearly inspections—which the previous board opted not to do—would have caught problems when they were still minor. The previous Board had voted not to spend the $200 to $300 for an annual inspection.

The general contractor, GM&R of Waveland was supposed to call in a roofer from Hattiesburg to look at the building, but if they made a report to supervisors, it wasn't discussed in public meetings.

Dillmann Roofing looked over the roof, but a report from that firm was never made public.

The inspections concluded that whoever installed the roof used the wrong sealer around the bolts that hold the roof down and attaches to the flashing.

Board records show in June of 1996, supervisors let a contract to Moran Hauling for $1,781 to patch some of the roof on the building.

In August, supervisors authorized Gex to work in association with attorney Ronnie Artigues, and file suit against whomever is responsible for the faulty roof or faulty construction.

Gex told the Echo Friday he got Mandal's Roofing out of Gulfport to come look at the roof several months ago, but he was still awaiting a written report.

The Echo was able to obtain a copy of a letter Artigues wrote to Mandal's Chris Cooper Nov. 13.

In the letter, Artigues told Cooper, "It is imperative you contact me even if it is to advise that you do not want to do the repairs. Please call me as soon as possible so I can advise my client as to whether or not you are interested in preparing a report and working on this building."

The Echo's calls to Henry Martinez with GM&R Construction and to Cooper with Mandal's roofing were not returned.

In the meantime, the rainy season is here, and there are no plans for immediate action.

In fact, District 2 Supervisor Rocky Pullman threw up another caution flag after the tirade by Cowand.

"I don't want to spend $30,000 on fixing this building," Pullman said.

BellSouth begins directory delivery

Delivery of the new BellSouth telephone directory began this week on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Delivery is expected to continue for about two and a half weeks," said BellSouth regional director, Rick Stewart.

The directory cover features the Mississippi City Elementary School in Gulfport and the John C. Stennis Space Center. The school will soon be the home of the Lynn Meadows Discovery Center for Children with an anticipated opening of May, 1998. The facility will be the first children's museum in Mississippi.

The photograph of the space center shows a rocket engine being tested.

"Both of these Gulf Coast attractions are featured in the Community Interest Pages in the center of the directory just behind the business listings, along with other points of interest on the Gulf Coast and a calendar of events," said Stewart.

"The emergency page is a quick reference to police, fire, medical and other emergency numbers. The Customer Guide pages include helpful information such as area codes, how to do business with BellSouth, optional services and much more," added Stewart.

Customers are asked to allow at least two weeks for the completion of deliveries. Anyone who has not received a new directory by Nov. 28 should call the BellSouth business office.

Medical Director,
Pediatric Hematology/Oncology Clinic
Memorial Hospital at Gulfport

Children receive treatment for cancer or blood disorders within an intimate, familiar environment of caring that favors their special needs. Memorial Hospital's highly skilled, experienced network of board-certified specialists includes pediatric hematologists/oncologists, medical oncologists, and radiation oncologists who work with a team of other health care professionals. While prioritizing the successful treatment of disease, staff members get to know each child personally.

The sick child benefits when quality care can be received close to home, family and friends. The Pediatric Hematology/Oncology Clinic of Memorial Hospital was formed to offer patients this important advantage.

Hancock Junior ROTC commended

In September, the Hancock High School Junior ROTC battalion was recognized as Honor Unit with Distinction for the 1997-98 school year. The unique honor, awarded by the Department of the Army, is achieved by JROTC battalions that clearly demonstrate exceptionally high standards of training and motivation.

On Nov. 10, Hancock County Superintendent of Education Terry Randolph and Hancock County Board of Education presented a Resolution of Commendation to the Junior ROTC Cadets under the command of Chief Warrant Officer 2 James Lewis and Sgt. Major Larry Ladner for their outstanding achievement.

Thank You ...

To all our many friends and family who shared in the loss of our beloved husband and father.

He cherished the love and support you gave him in his lifetime, and words cannot express our heartfelt thanks for the love and support extended to each of us at the time of his death.

We were comforted by your prayers, and appreciated the cards, flowers, plants, food and visits in our time of sorrow and need.

May God bless each and every one of you.

Sincerely,
The Dolph Koller Family

Writing project

Local educators are currently taking part in the 1997 South Mississippi Writing Project. The project is an intense, comprehensive workshop that promotes using the writing process and helps teachers develop writing skills that enhance communication and learning. Participants share and investigate successful approaches to teaching and using writing as a learning tool in the classroom. Teachers learn to take the steps of writing and the project helps the teachers become better writers as well as the long learners. This summer educators attended a week-long session at USM Gulf Park in Long Beach. The project will be completed after four weekend sessions ending in November. The project's coastal coordinators are Frances Weiler from Hancock High and Mary Kay Deen from North Bay Elementary. Jeanne Ezell, an English instructor at USM Hattiesburg is the SMWP director. Participants included: from Waveland Elementary, Darlene Bufkin, Sharon Sutherland, Jenny Seymour and Amy Thomas; from North Bay Elementary, Ann Edward, Stacey Gorum, Kathleen Jenkins and Connie Roth; from Hancock North Central, Jean Gardner and Deborah Moran; from Hancock Junior High, Heather Long; from Colmer Middle School, Pascagoula, Bessie Lawrence; from Arlington Elementary, Pascagoula, Donna Rivers; from DeLisle Elementary, Peggy McCullough; and from Taylorsville Elementary, Robin Atwood. Pictured are, top row, Frances Weiler, Darlene Bufkin, Kathleen Jenkins, Donna Rivers and Heather Long; middle row, Sharon Sutherland, Connie Roth, Amy Thomas, Peggy McCullough, Jean Gardner, Bessie Lawrence, Ann Edwards, Mary Kay Deen; front, Deborah Moran, Jenny Seymour, Stacey Gorum and Robin Atwood.

Recognize, know how to deal with fraud

Consumer fraud costs U.S. residents $40 billion annually, but a Mississippi State University researcher says there are ways to keep from becoming a victim.

"While the elderly most often are the targets of consumer fraud, anyone can become a victim if he or she fails to recognize the warning signals," said extension consumer specialist Beverly Howell.

She defined consumer fraud as any misleading action that causes a consumer to spend money or buy a non-legitimate product. "Telemarketing or fraud over the telephone is by far the most prevalent," she added.

Remember: If the offer seems to good to be true, it probably is.

Beware of offers seeming to provide something for nothing. Also, shop around to verify that an offer really is the lowest price available.

Get it in writing. If offered "an unbelievable deal" over the phone, request it in writing. Legitimate businesses, as well as fund-raising campaigns, are happy to comply.

Don't be pressured.

Avoid sales pitches that claim "the price is only good right now." A legitimate business will continue to offer those prices and to any consumer.

Don't provide personal information.

Never give out credit card numbers and other personal identification information to unsolicited telephone callers. If the caller claims to represent a charity or service you wish to respond to, ask for a call-back number to verify the caller's legitimacy. This also applies to door-to-door and Internet solicitations.

Take immediate steps if you become a fraud victim. Promptly contact a state regulatory agency.

American Legion Unit 77 Auxiliary

The monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Post 77 was Nov. 5 in the American Legion Hall on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

Reports were given on the many events celebrated during the month of October. There was the annual Fall Carnival given for the patients in the VA Hospital in Gulfport and the Oktober Fest on Coleman Avenue.

At the family picnic Oct. 18, a clown entertained 24 children, and on Halloween, 400 children came by to enjoy generous treats. An Italian spaghetti supper was held Nov. 8 at the hall on Coleman Ave.

A special announcement was made of the retirement of George Rodman, director of the Medical Center of the Department of Veterans Affairs, and the unit voted to contribute to his parting gift. A generous contribution was voted on for the Burn Center in Greenville. The blood donor drive brought in 32 donors. Veterans Day, Nov. 11, was observed at Post 139.

Plans are in the making for the Christmas parade Dec. 2 in Bay St. Louis.

The auxiliary is supporting the Flag Amendment to outlaw flag desecration and also the GI Bill of Health to retain the benefits which veterans presently receive. They are also joining in an effort to expose suspected fraud, waste or abuse of Medicare by calling 1-800-447-8477 to report irregularities they experience.

A membership drive is still going on. Anyone eligible is invited to join. The unit holds its meetings on the first Wednesday night of each month.

United Methodist Women

The United Methodist Woman's group of Clermont Harbor Methodist Church will meet Nov. 18 at 7 p.m. at the Fellowship Hall behind the church on Clermont Blvd.

All women of any age or religious affiliation are invited to attend. The group's goal is to minister to the needs of people in the area.

Members are asked to bring non-perishable foods and toys for the Christmas drive.

For information, call Joy at 467-0745.

AARP Chapter 1114

The Hancock County AARP Chapter 1114 will meet Monday, Nov. 17 at 10 a.m. at the American Legion Post 77 on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

Guest speaker will be Darlene Underwood, home economist for the Cooperative Extension Service of Hancock County, and Marilyn Bailey, area health agent. Topic will be health services.

Mississippi Homemaker Volunteers

Hancock County MHV members will meet Thursday, Nov. 20 at the Home Economist's office, 3064 Longfellow Drive, Bay St. Louis at 9 a.m.

Club and Council meetings will precede Leader Training. Topic will be "Holiday Entertaining." The public is invited. Light refreshments will be served.

Members are reminded to bring in dues, ornaments to decorate the main library's Christmas tree, the dolls and bears they dressed for Salvation Army's children's Christmas party, and the filled stockings. All will be on display during and after the meeting.

Several members and local citizens enjoyed the annual tour to St. Francisville, La. Oct. 23. A short jaunt to St. Bernard Parish, La., is planned for Dec. 11. This is a joint venture with Louisiana homemaker clubs that will benefit 4-H, Boys and Girls Club, Youth Foundation, Crippled Children and Adults, etc.

For information, call Adele at 466-3937.

Take Off Pounds Sensibly

WAVELAND

Pass sailor key member of America's defense

Defending America's interests around the world is not a job for the weak or timid.

Navy aircraft carriers have been on the front line of the nation's defense for the last 50 years and their overwhelming firepower is enough to make any rouge government think twice.

The muscle behind a carrier's firepower, however, comes from sailors like Navy Petty Officer 3rd Class Rosalind E. Smith. Assigned to Tactical Electronic Warfare Squadron 138 (VAQ-138) embarked on the USS Nimitz, the Pass Christian sailor is currently playing a key role in keeping a tenuous peace in the Middle East during a six-month deployment to the Arabian Gulf.

"We deploy aircraft carriers and their air wings overseas to ensure combat readiness," said Smith, the 21-year-old daughter of Janice Jones of Pass Christian.

Smith is an aviation administrative assistant for VAQ-138 where she performs administrative duties necessary to keep aviation maintenance running smoothly.

Homebased at Naval Air Station Whidbey Island, Wash., 60 miles north of Seattle, VAQ-138 operates the EA-6B Prowler. This all-weather, carrier-based aircraft conducts electronic warfare missions.

The Prowler's four-man flight crew has the ability to detect enemy radars and through the use of sophisticated sensors and computers can electronically jam or destroy them. The aircraft also provides critical electronic data links and communication support for the carrier battle group.

During their deployment to the Arabian Gulf, VAQ-138 will patrol the 'no fly' zone over Southern Iraq and enforce U.N. sanctions that stemmed from the Gulf War. Smith and her 5,000 shipmates on the Nimitz will also try to preserve a fragile peace in a region that has been historically unstable.

However, should crisis arise, the carrier's 80 aircraft have the capability to quickly crush any hostile actions by belligerent nations in the Middle East.

Smith knows that the entire crew will have to rely heavily on several months of intense pre-deployment training if the Nimitz is to be successful.

"The training gave me an idea of what to expect on this deployment because this is my first one," said Smith, a 1994 graduate of Gulfport High School.

While peacetime forward presence and crisis response are primary missions of the Nimitz Battle Group, Smith and the crew will participate in numerous goodwill projects during port visits to cities throughout Southeast Asia and the Middle East.

Being an "unofficial" overseas ambassador for the United States is a responsibility she is happy to shoulder.

"I feel proud to represent the United States in foreign countries," said Smith, a three-year Navy veteran.

Basketball roundup

Hawks fall to Harrison Central

BY RICHARD MEEK

The jubilation of 48 hours earlier gave way to harsh reality on Thursday for Hancock High.

The Hawks, flying high after stunning St. Stanislaus on Tuesday, were brought back to reality by a talented Harrison Central team in the championship game of the Hancock County Basketball Tournament on Thursday. The Rebels took an early lead and held on for an 80-65 victory at Hancock.

Bay High easily defeated host Hancock 50-32 to win the girls' championship.

In the consolation game, Bay High extended St. Stanislaus' season opening losing streak to three games with a 57-54 victory.

Harrison Central scored the game's first seven points and led 11-2 lead with 3:29 left in the first quarter. Hancock, 2-2, answered with an 8-2 run to cut the lead to 13-10 at the 1:30 mark, but consecutive dunks by Dewey Turner gave Harrison Central a 27-19 lead with 4:32 left in the second quarter.

The Rebels led 43-30 at the half and by as many as 18 on several occasions in the second half. The Hawks could come no closer than 12 over the final two periods.

"This was the biggest team we have faced so far," Hancock coach Michael Ladner said. "We haven't seen anybody with that height or wingspan."

"It was a good learning experience for us," he added. "I want to play as tough of competition as I can play. You must play good teams when you get to the playoffs."

Surprisingly, Harrison Central, which had a decided height advantage, employed a zone defense for most of the game. Even Ladner was surprised by the Rebels' defensive tactics.

Conversely, the Hawks stayed in a man-to-man much of the game, although weakside help gave the appearance of a zone away from the ball.

"I was surprised (Harrison Central) played a zone," he said. "They must have seen we have had trouble attacking a zone."

"I am not in favor of playing a zone defense," he added. "We will play man and give a lot of help (on the weakside)."

Donnie Carver scored 15 points and Archie Pouncey 13 for Hancock. Pouncey also had three steals.

Five Rebels scored in double figures, led by Timmy Bowers with 14 points. Eddie Parish and Devin Davis scored 13 each, and Turner and Jonathan Bunn 11 each.

Parish also had six steals and Bunn had a game-high eight rebounds.

In other games:

Bay High Lady Tigers 50, Hancock 32 — The Lady Tigers did not shoot well and committed 20 turnovers but Bay High coach Debbie Triplett was satisfied with the win.

"Anytime you can come in here and win by 18 points, you have to be satisfied," Triplett said. "This is a hard place to play."

Bay High, 5-0, led 22-16 at the half and put it away by holding the Lady Hawks scoreless in the third quarter. The Lady Tigers led 40-16 at the third quarter break.

Chanda Haley scored 18 points and Christina Bradley 11 for Bay High.

Jessica Pucheu led Hancock with 12 points.

Bay High 57, St. Stanislaus 54 — The Tigers even their record to 1-1 with the victory in the consolation game of the Hancock Tournament.

Stevie Lizana led the Tigers with 26 points. Mark Price added 10 points.

The Rocks, 0-3, were led by Junior Davis with 15 points. Zeke Davis added 12 points, and Paul Farve and Derek Bradley 11 each.

Pass Christian 80, Long Beach 60 — Kentrell Bell scored a game-high 20 points to lead the Pirates on Thursday night in the championship game of the St. Martin Tournament.

Rudy Bell scored 13 points, Lauren James 12, Shawn Ne-caise 11, and Damian Johnson 10 for Pass Christian, 4-1.

Soccer roundup

Perniciaro playing in SW Regionals

Former Bay High School soccer standout, Michelle Perniciaro, is participating in the NIAA Southwest Regionals this weekend in San Antonio, Texas.

Perniciaro has scored four goals and has four assists playing on the number one nationally ranked University of Mobile Lady Rams soccer team.

The Lady Rams won their third consecutive Gulf Coast Athletic Conference championship last week, eliminating William Carey, 7-0.

The team has recorded 14 shutouts and has outscored its opponents 93-4, while posting a perfect 18-0 record.

OLA 4, St. John 1

Our Lady Academy defeated the St. John Lady Eagles 4-1 Thursday night in high school soccer action. Kristin Cannon scored two goals to lead the Crescents to their second straight victory to start the season. Elizabeth Uram and Julie Reboul each scored one goal. Le-lie Ester recorded two assists and Katie Dennis had one.

The junior varsity squad played St. John to a scoreless tie.

OLA will travel to Harrison Central Friday for a 5:30 p.m. varsity district contest.

Bay High JV sweeps Hancock

The Bay High School junior varsity girls beat the Lady Hawks' JV 9-0 Friday night at Hancock High School. Katie Di-Benedetto and Sky Thomas scored three goals each. Keely Marshall added two and Katie Fillingame had one. Kelly Yanok had three assists. Priscilla Austin, Shannon Rose, Thomas, and Heather Wopat each had one assist as the Lady Tigers' JV improved their record to 2-0.

The Bay High junior varsity boys shutout the Hancock boys 3-0. Ray Soldin had two goals and John Anthony scored one. Tim Wright recorded an assist.

The Bay High junior varsity teams did not allow a single shot on goal in the two games.

The varsity teams will be in action again Friday night in Joe D. McCullough Tiger Stadium. The Lady Tigers will face the Long Beach Lady Bearcats at 5:30. The boys will host the Bi-loxi Indians at 7:30.

Toys for Tots run

The Gulf Coast Running Club is sponsoring the 17th Annual Pass to the Bay Toys for Tots Run on Dec. 13.

Runners have the option to participate in either the 10K or the two-mile health run/walk. The 10K course begins at Hancock Bank in Pass Christian and finishes at Subway Sandwich Shop in Bay St. Louis.

The two-mile run/walk begins and ends at Subway.

The entrance fee is $10 for GCRC members, $12 for non-members, before Dec. 8, $14 for all 10K runners after that date.

The 10K begins at 9 a.m., the two-mile run at 10:30 a.m.

Awards will be distributed in various age groups.

The Marine Corps will be accepting toy donations for distribution to local needy children.

The GCRC is also sponsoring a Half Marathon on Dec. 27 in Woolmarket. Four other races ranging from distances of 10 miles to one mile are also scheduled.

For more information on either race, call Denise Longino at 392-4722 or Leonard Vergunst at 875-6855.

The Bridges Golf Course first to offer Prolink

The Bridges Golf Resort is once again living up to its reputation as a world-class championship golf course. The Bridges has positioned itself on the cutting edge of golf technology by introducing the first Prolink, satellite communications system in Mississippi. Utilizing the Global Positioning System (GPS), Prolink is the golf industry's premier electronic yardage and comprehensive golf course management network.

Director of golf, Joel Jacobson, said, "We are pleased to be the first to offer Prolink to the area. This offers our golfing guests a product that's easy to use and it is very accurate."

Prolink provides golfers and golf course management with a variety of satellite-based electronic communications tools. Via an interactive, high resolution, color monitor mounted in the golf cart, golfers can access graphic displays of each hole and determine distances to the pin, hazard locations and pin placements. They can also access enlarged images of the green, revealing its contours and the distance the ball is from the hole.

As the golfer progresses from hole to hole, Prolink's mapping software automatically changes to reflect the cart's position. By allowing golf course managers to digitally and visually monitor the speed of play and pinpoint the location of each golf cart, Prolink maximizes the number of tee times available during the course of the day.

Endorsed by PGA Tour professional and Ryder Cup team member Jim Furyk, Prolink also offers advertisers one of the golf industry's most unique and effective direct marketing tools. Full screen advertisements and Prolink feature sponsorship packages allowing companies to communicate to consumers throughout the duration of play.

The Bridges first used the system in Martin Torguson's Leukemia Pro-Am Golf Tournament in October. In addition to having hole sponsorship signage on the greens, each hole was programmed to display the hole sponsor on the monitor.

Furthermore, golf course management can determine the location of their entire cart fleet from the clubhouse and communicate with golfers in their carts, as well as monitor speed of play in the most concise manner. The Bridges has the Prolink installed on all 75 golf carts that they own.

Prolink is a subsidiary of Leading Edge Technologies, Inc. (LET).

18A-THE SEA COAST ECHO—SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1997

Get what you pay for

"Free!" "No cost to you!" "Absolutely no charge!"

Most consumers realize that "free offers" eventually wind up costing them. Yet some mutual fund shoppers continue to confuse "no load" with "no cost." What's worse, they use this bargain promise as a criteria for selecting their funds.

Every mutual fund has costs. Although no-load funds may not charge an up-front fee, their annual expenses can have a significant negative impact on your return.

Most load funds compensate brokers by charging you a fee (load) when you make an investment or redeem shares, by paying fees to the broker every year, or by some combination of the two. These funds typically are priced to encourage long-term investing, which is what mutual fund investing should be. Mark Freeman, president of one of the largest fund families distributed exclusively by broker-dealers, says, "The longer you stay with us, the better off you are in terms of expenses." Freeman says his funds' investors stay an average of 13 years. Most financial advisers agree that after five years, any initial sales charge becomes insignificant.

If you're still concerned about that up-front load, there are ways to reduce it. Investors typically pay a maximum initial sales charge of 5.75 percent of their investment, but there are ways to pay less than the full sales charge:

- Concurrent purchases — Simultaneously purchas-

Dow Jones industrial average most widely used market indicator

The Dow Jones Industrial Average, created by Dow Jones & Company co-founder Charles H. Dow, first appeared May 26, 1896.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average initially comprised 12 companies, most of whom are unfamiliar today: American Cotton Oil; American Sugar; American Tobacco; Chicago Gas; Distilling & Cattle Feeding; General Electric; Laclede Gas; National Lead; North American; Tennessee Coal & Iron; U.S. Leather and U.S. Rubber.

As the economy expanded, companies were added to the average. The first publication of an average comparable to today's 30 industrial stocks was Oct. 1, 1928. The average closed that day at 240.01.

The average would fall to a low of 41.22 on July 8, 1932, and would take more than 40 years to reach 1000, first closing above that lofty mark on Nov. 14, 1972. The Dow

Dow Jones' flagship publication, The Wall Street Journal, is the keeper of the Dow Jones Industrial Average. Journal editors select the 30 companies that comprise the index.

"The stocks are chosen as representative of the broad market and of American industry," according to Journal Managing Editor Paul E. Steiger. "The companies are major factors in their industries, and their stock is widely held by individuals and institutional investors."

The for sake of continuity, changes in the components of the Dow Jones Industrial Average are kept to a minimum. Most substitutions have been the result of mergers, but from time to time changes may be made to achieve better representation. The most recent changes occurred May 17, when four stocks were replaced: Travelers Group Inc. replaced Westinghouse Electric Corp.; Hewlett-Packard Co. replaced Texaco Inc.; Johnson & Johnson replaced Bethlehem Steel Corp. and Wal-Mart Stores Inc. replaced Woolworth Corp.

Tracking the Dow Jones Industrial Average is done second-by-second with computers these days. But they follow the procedures developed a century ago when Charles H. Dow, with pencil and paper, added the stocks' closing prices, then simply divided by the number of issues.

The industrial average still is calculated by totaling the prices of the component stocks. But rather than divide that total by 30 (the number of stocks in the index), the total is divided by a regularly adjusted divisor, currently 0.26908277. The divisor, adjusted to maintain the historical continuity of the average, is recalculated for stock splits, spinoffs and changes in the component stocks.

Over the history of the average, the divisor has changed many times, mostly downward. This explains why the average can be reported as, for example, 8000, although no single stock in the average approaches that price level. Today, a one dollar rise in the price of a component stock would raise the Dow Jones Industrial Average roughly four points, assuming prices of the other 29 stocks were unchanged.

In its second century, the Dow Jones Industrial Average is the oldest continuous barometer of the U.S. stock market, and the most widely used indicator of stock market activity.

Today, Wall Street Journal editors maintain three other stock averages in addition to the Dow Jones Industrial Average. The other Dow Jones averages include: transportation, composed of 20 transportation issues; utilities, with 15 utilities; and a composite average of the total 65 stocks.

Dow Jones also produces another major index series, the Dow Jones Global Indexes. The series of indexes for stock exchanges in countries around the world are capitalization weighted, computed using the component stocks' market value — prices times shares outstanding — rather than prices alone. Introduced Jan. 5, 1993, the Dow Jones Global Indexes provide a comprehensive measure of stock performance world-wide.

In addition to The Wall Street Journal and its international editions, Dow Jones publishes The Wall Street Journal Interactive Edition, Barron's magazine and other periodicals, electronic business information services and the Ottaway group of community newspapers.

Electronic information services include Dow Jones Markets, a provider of real-time financial information to the international business community; Dow Jones Newswire; and Dow Jones Interactive Publishing, which provides business information to corporations and consumers by computer, telephone, facsimile and radio. Dow Jones also produces business television programming in the U.S. and abroad.

Fitzgerald joins CJRW

James Mikus, former art director with The Richards Group in Dallas, and Bill Fitzgerald, former creative director with Fitzgerald Advertising in New Orleans, have joined Cranford Johnson Robinson Woods, Little Rock-based advertising, marketing and public relations firm.

The announcement was made by CJRW senior vice president and creative director Boyd Blackwood.

Mikus is primary art director on CJRW's 180 Degrees team, working on the Carolina Power & Light account, among others, while Fitzgerald is creative group head on CJRW's ALL-TEL account team.

Their additions strengthen CJRW's creative team which now includes 10 art directors and five copywriters and is part of the agency's re-engineering initiative which began last spring under the leadership of new CJRW president and CEO Frank Cox.

"We have a strategic commitment to develop the great talent we already have here and to enhance our talent pool. James Mikus and Bill Fitzgerald are two outstanding professionals who provide evidence of our commitment," Cox said.

Mikus has worked on creative campaigns for such national accounts as Bank United, Chick-fil-A, Underwater World, Coors Light and Budget Rent-A-Car.

He joined The Richards Group in March 1996, and before that had worked two years at DDB Needham Worldwide and at GSD&M in Austin for two years. From 1991 to 1992, he was a freelance designer in Dallas.

Bill Fitzgerald

Mikus holds a degree in Commercial Art from Austin Community College.

Fitzgerald has 15 years' experience working as a copywriter, producer and creative director. For the past two years, he was vice president and creative director of Fitzgerald Advertising in New Orleans where his clients included Tabasco, K-B Drug Stores, Century Telephone and Union Planters Bank.

For four years, he was associate creative director of Godwin Group Advertising in Jackson. His career also includes six years with two other Jackson communications firms.

He holds a BA degree in English from Millsaps College. He is the son of Bonnie Fitzgerald of Waveland and the late Dr. W. D. Fitzgerald.

CJRW, with offices in downtown Little Rock, is the largest advertising, marketing and public relations firm in Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi. It has a professional staff of 92.

Coliseum events include hockey, skating, music

November and December will continue the perennially active schedule of events at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center. With everything from Mississippi Sea Wolves hockey games and religious services to public ice skating and a dog show, the facility will be alive with something for everyone.

The Sea Wolves have 12 home games scheduled throughout November and December and ice skating on the AreaRink continues with approximately 30 sessions each month. Concerts include country music star Alan Jackson, Pantera, and the U.S. Air Force Band.

The Coliseum also becomes "crafters heaven" in November with two Coast favorites, Christmas City U.S.A. and the Mississippi Gulf Coast Craftsmen's Guild Arts & Crafts Show.

Other public events include College Career Night, the Coast Chamber Affair, the High Caliber Gun and Knife Show, the AKC Dog Show, a Mardi Gras, a debutante ball and more.

The "WORD" for the Week

Dennis J. Prutow, Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

No thanks to chance

We have two great reasons for special Thanksgiving. Psalm 100-1-3 directs us. "Shout joyfully to the Lord, all the earth. Serve the Lord with gladness; come before Him with joyful singing. Know that the Lord Himself is God; it is He who has made us, and not we ourselves; we are His people and the sheep of His pasture."

We ought to give God praise. He made us. We did not crawl out of some primeval soup. We did not develop under the supervision of chance over millions of years. DNA contains an amazing amount of information. Where did it come from? Chance? Flip a coin. Will it be heads or tails? What is the chance? Does chance guide the coin? Chance has no power. We do not owe chance praise for our existence.

Are we part of the people of God through faith in Jesus Christ? We owe God praise. "He rescued us from the domain of darkness, and transferred us to the kingdom of His beloved Son" (Colossians 1:13).

Plunged in darkness, we could not find our way out of the swamp of sin. God rescued us. He removed us from the domain of darkness where Satan rules. He placed us in the kingdom of Christ. We have a new confession. "Jesus Christ is Lord" (Romans 10:9). This Thanksgiving, give God thanks for both creating and redeeming you.

Bible students

Fourth grade students of Main Street United Methodist Church in Bay St. Louis were recently presented with a Bible during the 11th annual Sunday worship service. Each year, as special recognition, members of the fourth grade Sunday School class are presented with a Bible embossed with the student's name on the front cover. Pictured are, front row, Kendra Bock, Trey Swanson and Jillian Riddle; back row, Kyle Moran, Kristen Brewer and Samantha Greer. Not pictured is Paul Keith.

49th Annual Harvest Dinner set

The Women of Christ Episcopal Church will host their annual Harvest Dinner Thursday, Nov. 20, 5-8 p.m.

The dinner has become an event that has been enjoyed by the people of the Bay-Waveland area for the past 48 years.

The tradition started in 1948 when seven church women prepared dinner for 250 people of all faiths at the home of Charles and Mary Breath. Since then the number of dinners served has grown to over 600.

Preparing the meal is not only a parish tradition but also a family tradition. Many of the women now preparing and serving the dinners learned the secrets of preparing this dinner from watching and helping their mothers when they were young children.

The menu, a tradition of its own, will consist of turkey, cornbread dressing and gravy, ham, sweet potato casserole, spinach florentine, pea salad, cranberry sauce, dessert and a roll.

Kim Uram will be committee chairperson again this year. She has chaired this event several times in the past. With her past experience she will be able to provide dinner guests with the excellent food and service that they have enjoyed throughout the years.

The event is the main fund raiser for the Women of Christ Episcopal Church, and all proceeds towards projects on the Coast as well as worldwide charities.

The charities include foreign missions, Hancock County Fund

Pantry and prescription drug fund, Coast Episcopal School and many other needy community organizations.

Cost of the dinner is $6. For ticket information, call Uram at 467-7831 or Christ Episcopal Church office at 467-7757.

Advance ticket sales are very important to assure that everyone will receive the hearty portions of food that they are accustomed to.

Take-outs will also be available at the rear entrance of Virginia Hall starting at 3 p.m. Pat Callahan will be in charge of the take-out service, and she will have a few extra tickets available for purchase at the door for those who did not purchase enough in advance.

Everyone Makes Mistakes

Every day, we are faced with making business, personal, and moral decisions. I once heard it said that on average, about twenty percent of our decisions are wrong. While it may be comforting to know that at one time or another, everyone makes mistakes, the way we respond to them is what is most important. Just as we learn by our errors, our tolerance of others is necessary in order for us to live a peaceful life. Forgiving others is usually more beneficial to us than to those who have done us wrong. In the Lord's Prayer, we ask God to forgive our wrongs, as we forgive those who have wronged us. Many people believe and trust in God, but have trouble forgiving others. And although forgiving is not forgetting, we have to keep in mind that only God is perfect, and that we all make mistakes. Forgiving someone means that we understand, and that we will not let their wrong actions adversely affect our future relationship with them.

And when you stand and pray, forgive anything you may have against anyone, so that your Father in heaven will forgive the wrongs you have done.

ABC Rental donates equipment

ABC Rental, 1190 Hwy. 90, Bay St. Louis, has donated a 12-inch Gas Cut Off "Partner" Saw to the East Hancock Volunteer Fire Department.

The fire department has added the item to its equipment and will use the saw in emergency situations, such as cutting metal from a car frame to reach a hurt passenger or cutting away a metal door to get inside a burning building.

Nutcracker Dec. 6

The Coast Youth Ballet Ensemble will stage its 5th annual production of Tchaikovsky's Christmas classic, The Nutcracker, on Saturday, Dec. 6 at 7:30 p.m. and Sunday, Dec. 7 at 2 p.m. at Bay High auditorium on Blue Meadow Road in Bay St. Louis.

Tickets go on sale Monday, Nov. 18. Reserved seat tickets are: adults $10 and $14; students, $8 and $10.

Tickets may be purchased at Applause Dancewear of Gulfport and at Anthony's Menswear, Bookends and The Coast Youth Ballet Academy.

For information, call 466-2625.

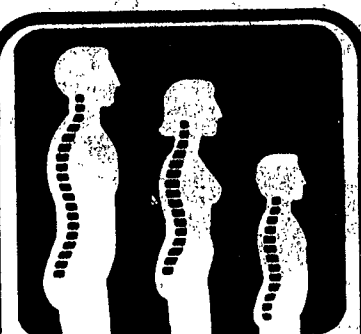

Loan funds available

The Farm Service Agency (FSA) has loan funds to help socially disadvantaged beginning farmers, including minorities, buy land for farming or to operate farms in Pearl River/Hancock County, said David Warrington, state executive director.

Under the program enacted by Congress, socially disadvantaged are Women, Hispanics, Native Americans, African Americans, Asians and Pacific Islanders.

FSA tries to find beginning farmers who are interested in farming and can qualify for an FSA farm ownership loan. The agency can sell or lease to those who are eligible, a farm held in its inventory, or make a loan for purchase of land on the open market, said Ag Credit Manager Jackie D. Williams.

People who think they may be eligible, whether they already are in farming or would like to become farmers, are urged to contact the FSA county office in the area, said Warrington.

You Could Be One
Kick Away From
1 Million Dollars!
or a trip to the Super Bowl.

Register today for your chance to attempt a 40 YARD FIELD GOAL at half time during the last Saints home game on Sunday, December 14th. Make it, and you win ONE MILLION DOLLARS. Miss it and WIN an all expense paid trip for two to the Super Bowl in San Diego.
Here's how it works: Prior to each Saints home game, four finalists will be selected from that week's pool of entry blanks. These four finalists will WIN a pair of Suite Tickets to the next Saints home game. All 32 semi-finalists will be invited to the Saints home game, Sunday December 14th, 1997. Before the game, one finalist will be picked and that person will attempt to kick a 40 yard field goal at half time. Remember, there is a nre pool of names for each home game, so be sure to register often. No purchase necessary. Must meet all eligibility requirements in order to participate.
Please read eligibility requirements carefully on the registration slip before entering. Some restrictions apply.
